MURDER OF THE CZAR.

TWO BOMBS EXPLODED UNDER HIS CARRIAGE.

HIS HORRIBLE INJURIES AND DEATH.

Many Others Injured.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—The following telegrams were received here this afternoon:

ST. PETERSBURG, March 13.

To James G. Blaine, Secretary of State, Washington, D. C.:

The Emperor was wounded in his carriage today by a bomb. His injury is not yet known. (Signed) FOSTER.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 13.

To James G. Blaine, Secretary of State, Washington, D. C.:

The Emperor is dead.

(Signed) FOSTER.

LONDON, March 13.—A dispatch from St. Petersburg to Reuter's Telegram Agency says: "As the Emperor was returning from a parade in the Michael Manege, about 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, a bomb was thrown which exploded under the Czar's carriage. The Czar alighted unhurt, but a second bomb exploded at his feet, shattering both legs below the knee and inflicting other terrible injuries. The Czar was immediately conveyed in an unconscious state to the Winter Palace, where he died at 4.30 o'clock this afternoon. Two persons were concerned in the crime, one of whom was seized immediately. Many policemen and other persons were injured."

ST. PETERSBURG, March 13.—The Official Messenger makes the following announcement:

"God's will has been done. At 3:25 o'clock, this (Sunday) afternoon, the Almighty called the Emperor to himself. A few minutes before his death the Emperor received the sacrament."

LONDON, March 13.—Reuter's St. Petersburg correspondent says: The first bomb fell near the carriage, destroying the back part of it. The Czar and his brother alighted uninjured. The assassin, on being seized by the Colonel of the police, drew a revolver, but was prevented from firing it.

The second bomb was then thrown by another person, and fell close to the Czar's feet, its explosion shattering both his legs. The Czar fell, crying for help. Colonel Darjibky, though himself much injured, raised the Emperor, who was conveyed to the Winter Palace in Colonel Darjibky's sleigh.

Large crowds assembled before the palace, but were kept back by a troop of Cossacks.

The imperial family were all assembled at the death bed. The Council of State was immediately convened.

All places of public resort are closed.

LATER FROM RUSSIA.

SYMPATHY FOR THE ROYAL FAMILY.

THE CZAREWITCH HAILED AS EMPEROR.

The People and Soldiers Excited and Indignant.

COLOGNE, March 13.—The Gazette's St. Petersburg despatch says: "The two assassins of the Czar were immediately arrested. The glasses of the gas lamps in the Michael Garden beside the canal were broken in pieces by the concussion of the explosion. A cordon of guards was drawn around the scene of the murder. The streets are densely thronged with excited crowds. The utmost sympathy for the Imperial family is everywhere expressed. The bells of the principal churches are tolling.

LONDON, March 13.—The Standard's St. Petersburg correspondent telegraphs that the Czar's right leg was nearly torn from his body, and his left leg was badly shattered. A Cossack and a pusser-by were killed on the spot. The Grand Duke Michael was wounded. An officer of the escort and a Cossack have since died.

The Czar lingered an hour and a half. All efforts to rally him failed. The only word he uttered after being struck was the name of the Czarewitch. The latter, on leaving the Palace after the death of the Czar, was hailed as Emperor by the crowd. He was surrounded, contrary to his custom, by a strong mounted escort.

The people are intensely excited and indignant. The soldiery, who greatly loved the Czar, are furious. All of the officials hastened to the palace to inquire as to the condition of the Czar. Telegrams announcing the death were sent to all the foreign courts and to every part of the empire. It is stated that the bombs were made of thick glass filled with nitro-glycerine. The assassins stood on opposite sides of the road. The carriage was moving fast, and the first shell struck the ground behind it and the back of the carriage was blown out. The coachman implored the Czar to enter the carriage again, but he moved a few paces from the carriage to see to the wounded of his escort. The assassin who threw the first bomb tried to point a revolver at the Czar, but the pistol was struck from his hand.

The Czar seemed to recover consciousness before his death, as he motioned away the doctors, who wished to amputate his legs. The Czarewitch and Czarevna drove to their palace, after the death, amid the sympathizing cries of the people. A company of guards surrounded the palace.

The Duke and Duchess of Edinburgh and Grand Duke Alexis have left London for St. Petersburg.

LONDON, March 13.—The News's St. Petersburg correspondent says when Col. Dorjibky asked the first assassin his name, he replied Rousakoff.

The funeral service will be held at the Winter Palace on Monday. Afterwards the new Emperor will receive the homage of the officers of state.

BERLIN, March 13.—The news of the death of the Czar was a fearful shock to Emperor William.

LONDON, March 13.—The Times has the following from St. Petersburg:

The doctors' bulletin, published at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, stated that both legs were broken below the knee, the lower part of the body severely injured, and the left eye torn from its socket. The Grand Duke Michael was not hurt.

The assassins were disguised as peasants. One report states that one of them was so roughly handled that he has since died.

All of the army officers have been ordered to remain in their barracks.

The Council of the Empire, under the Presidency of the Czarewitch, was still sitting at midnight. A manifesto will be published on Monday.

NEW YORK, March 13.—Upon the receipt of the news here of the death of the Emperor of Russia, the Russian Consul immediately went to Washington. Today, Rev. Father Nicholas Bjering, who is the head of the Greek Church here, received a despatch from Washington in regard to the death of the Czar. He said, tonight, for some time past it was claimed they had been doing things in Russia in a sort of "bomb-shell style." It was hard to tell which way matters would go. It was generally believed that the views of the Czarewitch were in opposition to his father, and it was a question whether he would now carry out his father's views or would seek vengeance for his father's death, instead of carrying out the views that he, the Czarewitch, previously entertained. He said the general administration of late was thought to be acceptable to the Nihilists, but by the death of the Czar, the various reforms which he had projected were now cut off, and it was difficult for any man to foretell the future. At this time, particularly, Father Bjering greatly deplored the death of the Emperor.

A BOLD ROBBERY.

A House Invaded in Broad Daylight and in a Thickly Populated City.—The Inmates Bound and Robbed.

NEW YORK, March 12.—About 9 o'clock today, a wagon stopped in front of the residence of Miss Elizabeth Roberts, 160 Second place, Brooklyn. Four men alighted and entered the house. Fifteen minutes later they returned to the wagon and rapidly drove away in the direction of Hamilton ferry. The neighbors hearing screams, went to Miss Roberts's house, and found her and the servant, Miss Catherine Clayton, bound and gagged. The latter said she answered the basement bell, and was met by four men, one of whom asked for the lady of the house. Before a reply was given, the four men rushed in; one pulled a pistol and threatened to kill her if she made any outcry. The others went in the basement and bound Miss Roberts. One put a pistol at her head and demanded all the valuables in the house, including the bonds which she had concealed on her person. He was about to open the lady's dress, when she took three $1000 first mortgage Cairo bonds from her bosom and handed them to him. He next demanded jewelry, but she refused to divulge its whereabouts. The servant, alarmed, said it was up stairs. Two stood guard over the woman, and the other two went up and secured two breastpins and one diamond ring, valued in all at about $500. Threatening to return and murder the women if any outcry was made, they quitted the house, and hastily drove off. Two of the men wore handkerchiefs over the upper portion of the face while in the house. News of the robbery soon reached the 3d precinct station house, and Capt. Looney dispatched detectives in every direction, and in a short time possessed clews which may lead to the arrest of the thieves.

IN CONGRESS.

Contest for the Speakership.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 12.—Representative Hiscock of New York has gone home, prophesying that there will be no extra session of Congress. Mr. Hiscock is the leading Republican candidate for the speakership, and he ought to know, as well as any one, what the prospects of calling an extra session are. Eastern members generally seem to think that Mr. Hiscock is going to win the speakership. He starts with the Republican vote of New York solid for him, which is more than any other member has had for a good many years. When he has succeeded in obtaining the votes of Connecticut and New Hampshire, and the Massachusetts members who have been leaning toward Mr. Reed, of Maine, think that they may have to in the end, support Mr. Hiscock. In fact his prospects are good for obtaining the united vote of New York and New England. Pennsylvania has no rival candidate, and the West does not present so strong a combination of any one man. Mr. Hiscock's qualifications are great, physical powers and phlegm and a rich wife. He has never yet been called to occupy the speaker's chair even temporarily. This is not his fault, but that of Speaker Randall, who preferred other Republican members when he wished to put one of them in his place. It looks now as if, in a contest between the East and West for this office, the West was going to be badly beaten.

IRISH MATTERS.

BOYTON'S LETTER TO MINISTER LOWELL.

A Free Fight at a Political Meeting.

DUBLIN, March 12.—Under instructions of American Minister Lowell, Consul Barrows has had an interview with Michael Boyton, now in jail here on charge of inciting to murder. Boyton claims that his father was a naturalized American citizen when he was born. Consul Barrows has forwarded a dispatch to Minister Lowell and enclosed a long letter, which Boyton has addressed to the American Minister, detailing the circumstances of his arrest; proclaiming his innocence of the charge against him, namely, inciting others to commit murder, and demanding the intervention of the American officials in order to obtain his immediate discharge from prison or speedy trial of the charge against him.

LONDON, March 12.—An attempt was made to hold a political meeting at Coventry last night, under the auspices of Arthur O'Connor and Finnegan, Home Rulers. As soon as O'Connor rose to speak, he was met by a storm of yells. He remained standing ten minutes, and made several attempts to read Parnell's manifesto to the Irish electors of Coventry, urging them to support a Conservative candidate, at the supplementary election at that place today. Finally a rush was made for the platform, and a free fight ensued. The police cleared the hall. All the tables and chairs were smashed. The disturbance is attributed to extreme radicals.

NEW YORK, March 13.—A Dublin dispatch states that the arrests under the coercion bill thus far have been only small farmers who held petty offices in the local Land Leagues, while the leaders of influence have been ignored by the officers.

PLENTY OF MONEY FROM AMERICA.

The World's London dispatch says Mr. Parnell and his friends will probably claim that the victory of Mr. Eaton, the Tory candidate in the Coventry election, was due to the manifesto to the Irish electors there, and to the efforts of Messrs. Arthur O'Connor and Finnegan, who were hooted down at a meeting. But although funds are still flowing into the League treasury from America, the League agitation has lost all vitality, and the government do not think it worth while to arrest any of the prominent leaders.

MR. BRADLAUGH RESIGNING HIS SEAT.

LONDON, March 13.—Sir Stafford Northcote, in a letter to his constituents, explains the course he has advised the Conservatives to take in regard to the urgency for the committee on supply. He points out that Mr. Gladstone's proposal threatens to subvert the rights and liberties of the House of Commons in regard to controlling the estimates.

Mr. Bradlaugh has resigned his seat in Parliament in order to be reelected.

LONDON, March 13.—Mr. Daniel Fitzgerald Gabbett, Home Rule member for Limerick City, has seceded from the Parnellites.

GLEANINGS AND GOSSIP.

Some dredging work which is going on at Zurich in the bed of the Limmat has brought to light the shore pillars of a Roman bridge, as well as the skeleton of a prohistoric stag.

The Esquimaux family of eight persons who left their country to exhibit themselves in Paris have been unable to endure the change of climate. All have died of small-pox.

It is seriously suggested in St. Louis to have text books for the public schools chosen by popular vote, and a bill looking to this end has been introduced into the state legislature.

Miss Rutland, a young lady living near the Withlacoche river, Fla., while out riding recently came upon a rattlesnake in the road. She reined in her horse, dismounted, and securing a stout stick, dealt the snake some well directed blows, which dispatched it. It measured seven feet and had eleven rattles. Shortly afterward, while riding with another lady, she dispatched another snake which measured seven feet six inches, with thirteen rattles.

PERSONALS.

.....A son of Secretary Windom is at school in Keene, N. H.

.....P. T. Barnum has gone to Florida for a month's pleasure trip.

.....Mr. E. C. Stedman, the poet, has sailed for Nassau, to be absent for a short time.

.....Captain Eads has three parties of engineers at work at the isthmus on his ship-railway scheme.

.....Mr. O. L. Pruden, assistant secretary to the President, is likely to remain in his present position under President Garfield's administration.

.....The King of Sweden is going to England on a short visit to his Queen, who is likely to remain at Bournemouth for the next two months.

.....It is reported that Robert Lincoln has been receiving $15,000 yearly from one insurance company in New England for transacting its law business.

.....The Illinois state Senate has passed a concurring resolution thanking President Garfield for nominating Robert Lincoln to the Cabinet, and the Senate for its prompt confirmation.

.....The suit of Samuel Wilkinson against Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, for the breach of his contract to write the "Life of Christ," has been noticed for trial in the Supreme Court of New York city on the first Monday in April.

.....Professor Sumner of Yale College has had printed in pamphlet form an article by himself on "Arguments against Protective Taxes," which he has distributed among the members of the senior class. The article is published in the latest number of the Princeton Review.

.....Col. Henry G. Pearson, who succeeds Postmaster-General James as Postmaster of New York, was born in that city in July, 1842, was educated in the public schools, and at the age of 14 years was appointed a messenger in the audit department of the Custom House. Since 1860 he has been connected with the postal service, rising steadily until 1873, when he was appointed Assistant Postmaster. He is a son-in-law of Mr. James.

.....Senator David Davis of Illinois was a poor country lawyer some forty years ago, but by judicious investments in real estate at Bloomington, his home, and Chicago, he has amassed a fortune believed to exceed $3,000,000. He is so fat that he refuses to ride in the Senate elevator with any other passenger. At his approach to the elevator entrance the operator orders all others back, and lifts the portly statesman to the floor of the Senate alone.

.....Ex-Governor Hendricks, of Indiana, has just sent to E. B. Martindale, of Indianapolis, a valuable gold-headed ebony cane, in payment of a bet made about a year ago upon the result of the Chicago Convention. The ex Governor wagered that Grant would be the Republican nominee, and he has apparently concluded that the nomination and election of Garfield is eminently calculated to promote the best interests of the country, for he has caused to be inscribed upon the head of the cane, "Better late than won."

.....In speaking of the success attending her efforts on the operatic stage, Miss Abbott is reported to have said: "Strangely enough, I owe a great part of it to those who wished to see me fail. It is true that no one has warmer friends than have I. To the congregation of Dr. Chapin's church, to the Baroness de Rothschild and to Adeline Patti, who obtained for me my first engagement, I owe a debt which no money can ever repay. But, after all, the road to success was so thorny that I think I would have given up and halted by the wayside had it not been for some over-zealous people, who kindly dug my grave and sang the requiem to my artistic career before I had a chance to show of what material I was made. I then resolved to never give up the ship—to be daunted by nothing—and the handful of people who opposed me so bitterly, aroused in my heart a sort of righteous indignation at their injustice and I then and there resolved to conquer or die."

IN AND ABOUT PROVIDENCE.

The correspondent of the Boston Sunday Herald speaks favorably of the business prospects of Rhode Island. He says it is believed that the spring trade in all lines will be good and profitable. Here and there can be noted signs of business activity, and it is likely that, as soon as the season becomes settled and the weather clear and pleasant, the wheels of industry will revolve briskly. In general trade circles there is considerable confidence that the coming season will be prosperous, and our merchants and manufacturers are inclined to look at business affairs most cheerfully. The larger manufacturers are apparently doing well at present, and many of them are preparing to branch out and take steps for a great increase in their concerns. There are hundreds of small manufacturing interests here beside the greater ones that everybody knows about, and it is a notable fact that there are very few of these minor establishments that are not in active operation at present and meeting with fair encouragement. In the wholesale trade in most departments there is a steady progress in prosperity, and in the retail trade everything looks promising for a good season. Competent men in the trades are in demand and any one who is proficient in most any craft is sure to find plenty of work at living pay. There will be quite a number of new buildings erected this spring, and at least one of the building trades are certain to have plenty to do. Real estate has begun to boom. Good pieces of property can be sold now at liberal rates, and it is evident that capitalists are investing money in desirable real estate. There is a demand for houses, and rents have advanced somewhat. It is expected that the city will grow in population very much during the next five years, and, probably, by the time the next census is taken, its people will be counted at least 150,000. The city has many opportunities for development and progress, and, if good times continue, there is no doubt it will largely increase its importance, and take a high rank among the prosperous, substantial cities of the country.

A FEW WORDS TO GENTLEMEN WHO ARE SMOKERS.

Once a noisy talker whose voice was heard above all the conversation of a roomful of people, was called to task and replied: "This is a free country, and every man has a right to free speech." To which the answer was: "Very true, but every man has the right to protect his ears." Everybody has the right to smoke, but nobody has the right to use this right, or any other, to the offense or injury of others. This seems to be a self-evident proposition and, therefore, needless to be stated. But it must have become evident to every observer that, of late years, the number of smokers has largely increased, who fact as though non-smokers had no rights which the former were bound to respect. Even those who smoke moderately are offended every day by the stolid and selfish disregard of the comfort and sensibilities of others, manifested by persons who have the outward appearance of being gentlemen, but are not, because no man is a gentleman who is regardless of the just feelings of others.

YACHTING NOTES.

The schooner yacht Ambassadress, Mr. William Astor, is at City Island, undergoing radical alteration. She is being changed from a centreboard to a keel vessel, the work to be finished and the boat to be delivered to her owner by May 10.

It is reported in yachting circles that ex-Commodore Nicholson Bane had sold the schooner yacht Restless to Mr. T. Dennie Boardman, of Boston. The yacht will remain in the New York Club.

The club house of the New Bedford Yacht Club will be opened for the season on the 1st of May. Messrs. George M. Crapo, William Nye, Jr., and Arthur E. Perry have been elected an executive committee of the New Bedford Club and Mr. William A. Markie, president of the Board of Directors. The schooner yacht, Fearless, Mr. E. B. Phillips, has joined the club.

"Templeton" writes from Boston to the Hartford Courant: "The Unitarian pulpits in Boston are fast thinning out, and no young men are offering to take the place of those now eminent in them. James Freeman Clarke is more than seventy years old; Dr. Bartol is very near that age, if he has not already reached it; Edward Everett Hale, is, I suppose, little, if any less than ten years younger. Rufus Ellis is between sixty and seventy. The only Unitarian preacher of distinction in Boston who is not past the prime of life is the Rev. M. J. Savage."

A little girl whose mother belongs to the "official circle" in Washington was watching the inaugural procession and the dignitaries on the platform. The mother pointed out Garfield, and said; "There, child, that's the new President." "What," exclaimed the girl in dismay, "isn't Mrs. Hayes going to be President any more?"

In a recent lecture on "Coal Gas," Prof. Roscoe cited a curious instance of the deodorizing of illuminating gas. In Dresden a quantity of gas escaped from a pipe outside of a dwelling and passed through the earth into the house, with its odor entirely gone. It was breathed unconsciously, and several deaths occurred in consequence.

THE NEW YORK CAT SHOW.

It is dawning on the mind of the New York gamin that the Museum wants cats. The applications of small boys with cats will be much more numerous tomorrow, and a sight well worth seeing will be seen a day or two after, for the New York gamin, from one end of Manhattan Island to the other, is now engaged in hunting cats. Probably 200 cats were offered yesterday; there will be 500 today, and the day after 1,500. As yet no cats have brought boys. But they should. The real curiosities incident to this show are the boys bringing these cats.

Of the encaged cats on exhibition at least half of them are disgusted. They glare from their cages at the staring humanity before them. They pine for the freedom of the housetop, the back yard, the garden wall. The collection on exhibition is heterogeneous. There are cats of low and cats of high degree; family cats and cats of no family at all. Pariah cats without homes, the abused of all abusers, against whose hand is every man, who subsist out of the gutter, the ash barrel or the plunder stolen from neglected kitchens; cats without names, and cats which never knew a kind caress. There are pampered and luxurious cats, whose place is the warmest, cosiest corner of the family hearth, and the quality of whose food is often denied the inmates of many a tenement. There are kittens in the joyous, frolicsome stage of existence, all happily unaware of their coming cares and responsibilities; there are mothers, with large families, who look upon their offspring with that approving, condescending air peculiar to the maternal cat, which, with five feline olive branches around her table, contemplates without the least trepidation the probability of five more ere the present year is closed, and who may in the natural duration of her life become a great-great-great-great-great grandmother, which is certainly a grand possibility.

Out of the 250 essays on cats already sent in, in compliance with Mr. Bunnell's advertisement, the following initial sentences are selected, showing the various methods of leading off on the subject of cats:

NEW HAVEN, Ct., March 7.—"Having taken much interest in fine cats—"

"The cat of the present century is a remarkable animal in its mental development."

"I see by the papers that you want to pay somebody $10—"

NAUGATUCK.—"Cats have existed from the most remote antiquity."

"When I read that the proprietor of this exhibition literally offered a prize—"

"There are many distinct races of this animal."

WEEDSPORT, March 2.—"Reading your advertisement for cats—"

"Cats belong to the Unguiculata, or four clawed family, from Ungues, a nail."

"The cat is a small animal with silky fur."

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—"I never turned a cat inside out to see just what they are made of."

JERSEY CITY.—"The cat is an essentially selfish animal."

MENDHAM, N. J.—"I had a remarkable cat."

SCHENECTADY, N. Y.—"The name is applied in its widest sense to all feline animals."

"Rise, honest muse, and take the part—"

"Knowing you as a friend to mankind and cats in particular—"

"'Tis said all cats muse."

CHARLES H. SMITH, Wilkesbarre, Pa.

Smith deserves a prize for brevity, point and condensation.

There are three wild cats from the Adirondacks, which utterly refuse any compromise with civilization, who despise tameness, which scoff and spit and growl hoursly at a race they hate and despise. Theirs is an undying hostility against man and all his works. These are practical, not ornamental, cats. Their teeth and claws are made for business purposes. Their tails are short and stubby—cur-tailed, or more properly, briefly cat-tailed. But, oh, how these three wild cats would like to have half an hour's interview with about 200 of the 250 cat essayists whose manuscripts now cumber the table of Bunnell's private office.—[New York Graphic.

A Modern Miracle.

THE MOST MARVELOUS EXPERIENCE OF ONE OF BOSTON'S LEADING CITIZENS.

How it Occurred.—His Description of the Circumstances, and the Overwhelming Testimony of Prominent Witnesses.

[Boston Globe, Dec. 8th.]

The readers of this paper were more or less amazed at a most remarkable statement from one of our leading citizens which appeared in yesterday's issue. So unusual were the circumstances connected with it, and so much comment did it occasion on the street and in social circles, that a representative of this paper was commissioned to investigate its details and verify its facts. The article referred to was a statement made by Mr. B. F. Larrabee, of the New York and Boston Dispatch Express Company, that after having lain at the point of death for more than three weeks, given up by both physicians and friends, he had completely and wonderfully regained his usual health. Mr. Larrabee was found in his private office on Arch street, and upon being questioned said:

"Well, sir, logically, I have been dead, but really, I am as you see me. A little over a year ago, I was taken sick, but I allowed the illness to run along until on the 28th day of October, 1879, I fell prostrate while walking along Tremont street. I was carried home and did not go out of the house until the middle of December. I then went down town and attempted to attend to my business until the 13th of last January, when I was taken with a very severe relapse. My symptoms were terrible. I was fearfully bloated; I suffered severe pains in all parts of the body and it was almost impossible to get my breath. For six days I never laid down and never slept. I was constantly attended by my regular physician, Doctor Johnson, and Doctor Bowditch also came to see me nearly every day. There was no doubt that I was suffering from Bright's disease of the Kidneys in its worst form and last stages, accompanied by other troubles in my liver and heart. In spite, however, of the skill of the physicians, I kept growing worse and finally they tapped my side in the vicinity of the heart, taking away forty-six ounces of water. This relieved me for the time, but I soon became just as bad as before. Then the doctors gave me up entirely, declared I could not live more than twenty-four hours and my daughter, who was residing in Paris was telegraphed for. Still I lingered along for several weeks, far more dead than alive, but never giving up hope. One night—it was on the 20th of April, I very well remember—my attendant, who was reading the paper to me, began an article which described my disease and sufferings exactly. It told how some severe cases of Bright's disease had been cured, and so clearly and sensibly did it state the case that I determined to try the means of cure which it described. So I sent my man to the drug store, procured a bottle of the medicine, unknown to my physicians and friends, and took the first dose at 10 o'clock. At that time I was suffering intensely. I could not sleep; I had the short breaths and could scarcely get any air into my lungs. I was terribly bloated from head to foot, and the motion of my heart was irregular and painful. The next morning I was able to breathe freely; the pain began to leave me and the bloating decreased. I continued to take the medicine, and today, sir, I am as well as I ever was in my life, and wholly owing to the wonderful, almost miraculous power of Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure. I do not know what this medicine is made of, or anything else about it, but I know it saved my life when I was given up by the doctors and had really been dead for weeks; that it has kept me in perfect health ever since and has cured many of my friends to whom I have recommended it. There are a number of very remarkable cases in Lynn and Salem, as well as in this city, that it has cured. My recovery is so remarkable that it has excited much attention, and physicians as well as others have investigated it thoroughly. I am glad they have, for I feel that the result of such a wonderful cure should be known to the thousands in all parts of the land who are suffering from troubles of the kidneys, liver, or heart in some of their many dangerous forms."

The representative of the press thanked Mr. Larrabee for his very frank and clear statement, and was about to leave the office when a gentleman stepped up to him and inquired if he was seeking information about Mr. Larrabee's sickness and recovery. The scribe replied that he was, whereupon the gentleman said:

"And so am I, and I have come all the way from Chicago for that very purpose. Kidney troubles seem to be alarmingly increasing all over the country, and I have a very near relative who is afflicted much as Mr. Larrabee was. I have been to see the physicians of whom Mr. Larrabee speaks, and I tell you, sir, it is simply wonderful."

"What did they say?" asked the man of news.

"Say! why, sir, they fully confirm everything Mr. Larrabee has stated. I went to see Dr. D. A. Johnson, at 20 Worcester street. He was absent when I called and so I stepped into the Commonwealth Hotel where Mr. Larrabee was living at the time of his sickness. Messrs. Bragg & Carter are the proprietors, and I asked them about Mr. Larrabee's case. Mr. Bragg pointed to me the electric annunciator and said 'day for weeks and weeks every time that bell rang I said: That means the death of Mr. Larrabee.' No one around the hotel ever dreamed that he would recover and when the doctors would come down from his room they would shake their heads and say there was no hope. The arrangements for the funeral were all made and his recovery was simply a miracle."

I then called on Dr. Johnson who said that Mr. Larrabee's case was a very remarkable one. He was his family physician and expected his death every hour for a number of weeks and never called to see him during that time, but he was prepared for it. The doctor said the recovery was due to Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, and if he had friends, male or female, troubled with albumen or any kidney troubles he should certainly advise them to use this remedy. Dr. Johnson said kidney difficulties are more common than most people think and that many symptoms which are supposed to be other diseases arise from the kidneys. He said that ladies after gestation are specially subject to albuminous troubles which require prompt attention.

Well, I then came down and called on Dr. H. Ingersoll Bowditch on Boylston street. The old doctor was inclined to be reticent but fully confirmed all I had previously learned. He had attended Mr. Larrabee, had supposed him to be beyond all hope, and was afterwards restored, as he said, by Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure.

I next went to see Dr. Nathan E. Webb, at the Hotel Clinton, for you see I was determined to be thorough in the matter. I found Dr. Webb a most clear-headed and well-informed gentleman, and he said:

"I know of Mr. Larrabee's case from having thoroughly investigated it as medical director of a Life Insurance company, and it is one of the most remarkable cases I have ever met. Mr. Larrabee had all the manifestations of a complication of diseases, and in their worst forms. He had albumen and cast in the urine, and a terribly diseased liver and spleen. Indeed, he was so bad that he threw himself upon the floor, and with his head upon a hassock, struggled for breath. It was on the night when he was so bad and when all his medical advisors had long given him up that he began using Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure. The next morning at 10 o'clock he was able to breathe freely, and has been ever since. I subjected him to the most thorough examination possible, after his recovery, and I can't find out about him. His kidneys, liver, lungs and heart are perfectly well and sound. I can only add that, from what I have seen, I should unhesitatingly recommend this remedy."

The conclusion from this statement above made, which come to the newspaper man as well as to the general public, must be two-fold. First, that a modern miracle of healing has been performed in our midst, and that, too, by the simplest means and one which is within the reach of every one; and secondly, that testimonials of such high character and so outspoken in tone conclusively prove the value of the remedy and its superior nature to the proprietary articles with which the public have been flooded. The greater includes the less," and the remedy which has been proven so valuable and has saved a life after it was brought down to death's door must unquestionably be certain in all minor troubles, which are so disastrous unless taken in time.

Newport Daily News, and the Newport Journal.

The Newport Daily News is published every afternoon (Sundays excepted), at the News building, 187 Thames street, by Davis & Pitman.

The Newport Journal is published at the same office every Saturday morning and contains a selection of the best matter in the Daily, including editorial discussions of the topics of the week, literary miscellanies and at least one good story, the latest markets and a complete and comprehensive summary of the news,—local and general. The Journal is a large 32 column paper and contains a large amount of reading matter that is valuable to readers in town or country who desire a good Newport paper, but who do not take a daily from this city.

Complaints regarding the irregular or improper delivery of either paper should be sent to the office at once.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.

The Daily News, $6 per annum, or 12 cents a week, payable to carrier.

The Newport Journal will be sent to any address in the United States, postage paid, for $2 a year. A discount of 50 cents is made when the WHOLE YEAR is paid STRICTLY IN ADVANCE.

Taunton is to have a new and elegant City Hall. It is proposed to have a building that will be an ornament to the city, and contain, beside city offices, the large public library, and furnish room, if needed, for the postoffice, etc. The city is now paying a large sum yearly as a rental for a variety of offices, and the new building will be, in a measure, an economic move.

Lieut. Governor Hickenlooper, of Ohio, declares that he will refuse a nomination for governor. This shows that Hickenlooper is not a native of that state which we had suspected when we once tried to pronounce his name. No native of Ohio ever refused an office—at least not unless he thought there was a better chance for him. Hickenlooper must be a Deutschman.

One of the highest compliments ever paid to Senator Edmunds was that rendered by the late Senator Carpenter, after the latter had been President pro tem. of the Senate, viz.: "You may put me in the chair blindfolded and I can tell whether or no Senator Edmunds is in his seat by the character of the legislation that is brought up. If it is known that he will be absent for a few days every bill with a 'job' in it is brought to the front and pushed, whereas if he is present nothing is said about them."

The Nihilists have at last succeeded in their murderous designs and the Czar of Russia is dead. While on his way to the Winter Palace yesterday a bomb was exploded under his carriage, partially destroying it. The Czar and his brother, the Grand Duke Michael, alighted uninjured when a second bomb was thrown, exploding at the feet of the Emperor shattering his legs and otherwise injuring him so that he died soon after. Three others were killed by the explosion. Intense excitement prevails throughout Russia. The Czar was born April 29, 1818, in the reign of his uncle, Alexander I. The first seven years of his life were hardly completed when the death of Alexander I., and the renunciation of his rights by his brother Constantine, left to the elevation of his father Nicholas to the throne, to which the young prince became heir apparent. The date of his accession was March 2, 1855. He is believed to have done more for the prosperity of Russia than any ruler since Peter the Great. He organized the army, dissolved the greater part of the military colonies, freed public instruction from military discipline, prohibited espionage, and instituted measures against official corruption. He advanced young men in the different branches of the public service, and gave a new impulse to industry and trade. He annulled the impediments which prevented Russians from visiting foreign lands; granted a general amnesty for political offenders, Poles and Russians, recalling the exiles from Siberia and allowing fugitives to return, and inaugurated that vast system of internal communication which is to cover his empire with nets of railroads. His greatest measure of reform, however, was the emancipation of the serfs. He silenced the opposition of the serf-owners by intimating to them that if there was to be a revolution it had better begin at the summit than at the bottom of society. Their emancipation was decreed March 3, 1861, and carried out within the following two years.

OUR CITY POOR.

To the Editor of the Daily News:

A most distressing case was reported to His Honor, Mayor Sloeum, today: A famished woman with three young children, living in the north part of the city, have been suffering for food and fuel—their extreme distress becoming known to those in the immediate neighborhood by the cries of the children. Her condition was brought to the notice of the Charity Organization some three weeks since; they have contributed to her maintenance during that time to the extent of $2.75.

Upon hearing of the circumstances, His Honor, the Mayor, immediately ordered a sufficiency.

Pressed economy at the expense of our poor is not desired by the tax-payers, nor is it commendable; and an organization which distributes $239.41 for relief and charges $561.73 as expenses incurred in such distribution demands more than passing notice. P. H. H.

On receipt of the above communication we proceeded to inquire further into the merits of the case reported, not that we doubted the purpose of the writer to state the actual facts, but because we felt there must be something connected with it that was yet untold. In response to inquiries we learn that the family in question are strangers in the city, having come here on the 23d of October last from Boston. The father is an able-bodied mechanic who is now said to be in St. Louis, and who has sent some money for the support of those left behind but not enough to meet their wants. He appears to be a sober man and the family so far as is known is of good general habits. They reside in a tenement owned by the writer of the above communication, and agreed to pay a rent of $7.00 a month, but have not been able to do so. The neighbors say that on coming here the family shut itself up and from the first remained so secluded that even the people in the other part of the house had not learned their names. Being thus strangers and exceedingly reticent, no one knew of their destitution until they were ready to make their wants understood. The case first came to the knowledge of the Overseer of the Poor on the 21st day of February, when Capt. J. P. Cotton and M. O. Stoddard visited the place and afforded immediate relief. They not only gave money and food, but remained long enough to build a fire and attend to other household duties that demanded attention. Since then Capt. Cotton has visited the family twice a week and furnished, either from the city or private sources, such supplies as were needed. Every want expressed by the woman has been met from that time to the present. The figures given in the communication as indicating the amount of relief afforded are by no means correct. The story that the children have been heard in the night crying for food comes, it is said, from a person who indeed heard them cry, but did not go in to see what was the matter. Like a famous man of old he "passed by on the other side," and now complains of those who actually called because they only gave "two pence." This report made to the writer of the above note laid the foundation, probably, for the present criticism. So far as we can learn, none of those who complain of the Overseers of the Poor have acted the part of the good Samaritan by going in person and ministering to the sufferers.

The allusion to the Charity Organization is unfortunate. We cannot learn as any application has been made to them for help, or that any aid has been offered from their funds. The case has been thus far in the hands of the Overseers of the Poor with the results already indicated.

The writer of the above note has a mistaken idea of the purpose and work of the Charity Organization. It is not so much to collect and expend funds in its own name as to gather the facts concerning the wants of the poor, and thus aid the charitably disposed in the distribution of gifts. It is at this very point that there is a popular outcry against the present system. Men and women who will not work so long as they can be fed at the public crib, or who spend all their earnings in dissipation, or who have money in the bank but prefer to live by beggary, do not like a system that insists upon knowing the facts. There is a pauper class growing up in this country, as in the old world, who propose to live by beggary, and this system puts a good many obstacles in their way. It provides liberally for those who are worthy of help and leaves but slight chance for impostors. Hence these last cry out against the society and against all who are connected with it, and in some cases well meaning persons, hearing their complaints and not having ascertained the facts, take up the story and repeat it until the reports seem to have a respectable origin.

As a matter of fact the poor of Newport were never better cared for than at the present. Very little money is distributed as a means of affecting votes at coming elections, and very little is wasted on those who are able to take care of themselves. But the worthy poor have no need to suffer. The very suspicion of neglect will call out an almost universal protest like that which we publish above. The people of Newport will not allow the hungry to go unfed, nor the naked to remain unclothed. It is greatly to the honor of the city that she is thus careful of the poor and the unfortunate of every class.

MINISTER MORTON.

There will be a general agreement of sentiment—especially in this state—as to the fitness of the President's nomination of our highly-esteemed fellow-citizen, Hon. L. P. Morton, to be Minister to France. Mr. Morton has shown that a man long devoted to, and highly successful in business pursuits, can achieve a brilliant success in politics, and can render great public services, as a member of Congress and as a party leader. His speeches have been few and short, but they have been on subjects which he understood far better than most of the orators in Congress, and have been influential on legislation and public opinion.

It is high time that the spontaneous movements of the business men of France for some wise and reciprocal beneficial arrangement of the tariff regulations of the two countries, should be led into practical channels, by an American minister to France, who is an able and experienced business man. Such a minister as we feel sure Mr. Morton will be, can do a vast deal in four years, to liberate the trade between the two great Republics from the shackles that fetter it. France is ready and willing. Minister Morton has a brilliant opportunity for rendering a great service to both countries, by acting as the intermediary between the business interests of the two nations, for the advantage of both.

It is a secondary, but not a wholly unimportant consideration, that the new Minister has the means, the disposition and the good taste, required for the maintenance, in Paris, of a generous hospitality that will add largely to his powers of usefulness in his official capacity.

The President has made no mistake this time.—[Evening Mail.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

ADVERTISEMENTS NEW TODAY.

Wanted—Situation.
A. P. Baker—For Sale.
News Job Office—Cards.
Jere. Parmenter—Dry Goods.
Y. M. C. A.—Business Meeting.

—Several important real estate sales have recently been made.

—The Highway Committee visited Third street Saturday afternoon to consider the proposed extension.

—Mr. Pinard has rented one of the Livingston cottages to Mr. H. M. Schieffelin, of New York, for $1000.

—The Newport orchestra, Prof. Mathers, will furnish the music at the Land League meeting Thursday evening.

—Officer Griffith has taken Charles Johnston to the State Farm where he had been sentenced for wife beating.

—Capt. Joseph P. Sanger's leave of absence at Fort Adams has been extended to twenty days and Major Frank E. Taylor's to ten days.

—The young people of the Second Baptist Church will give another of their characteristic socials and suppers this evening at 7.30 at the church.

—The Sunday school library of the First Methodist Episcopal Church has been increased by the addition of two hundred and twenty-five dollars' worth of books.

—Meade & Maginley's "Deacon Crankett" combination is announced to appear in Newport on the 25th instant, and Sol Smith Russell's "Edgewood Folks" will come on April 1st.

—James McMahon, who is wanted on the charge of stealing a pig, has left town. John Dorgan, who is in jail for the offence, says that he is not guilty of the charge. McMahon left town as soon as he ascertained that he was to be arrested.

—Today is the last day when the Wickford line will sell tickets to New York via Stonington, the company having entered into an agreement with the Old Colony Company to hereafter carry no passengers to connect with the Stonington boats, receiving concessions from the Old Colony Company in return.

—During the season of 1881 a special Newport train will run on the Shore line connecting at Wickford for this city. The train will leave New York at 2 P. M. each day, excepting Sunday, and passengers will arrive in Newport at 8 o'clock in the evening. The late night trips of the Eolus will be resumed about the 1st of June.

—The rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association were again filled at the praise service last evening. The meeting was led by Erastus P. Allan. Mr. Jacobs, of the Friends Society, offered prayer and Mrs. Jacobs gave a very earnest exhortation to the unconverted. Thos. S. Nason led the choir and Mrs. J. M. Popple presided at the organ.

—A lodge of Knights and Ladies of Honor will be instituted in this city Tuesday evening, 15th instant, at Odd Fellows' hall, by Harlan P. Gage, of Dorchester, Mass., Supreme Protector. It will be composed of members of Union and Perseverance lodges, Knights of Honor, and their wives and daughters. This lodge has been started through the exertions of the Reporter of Union Lodge, No. 608, Knights of Honor.

—There was a disturbance at the liquor store of Edward Hughes on William street, Saturday night. A young lad, who had been drinking, amused himself by breaking the windows and making matters disagreeable generally. Mrs. Hughes appeared on the scene with a revolver, which she might have brought into use, but for the timely appearance of Officer Scott, who says that in the excitement of the moment the woman pointed the weapon at him. He, however, disarmed her, and averted that tragedy.

—A tramp, George Reed, a New York shoemaker, sixty years of age, has been sent to the State Farm by Judge Baker. The wayfarer applied for three consecutive nights at the police station for lodgings. He said that he came here to get work but was unable to find any. He has lodged at station houses every night for some time on his way here from Boston and in view of his affection for that kind of living the judge was of the opinion that a more permanent abiding place would be good for him. He will be taken there by Capt. Hammond.

GOSPEL TEMPERANCE MEETING.—At the temperance meeting at Odd Fellows' hall yesterday afternoon, short addresses were made by Messrs. Flanagan, Dexter, Doutney and Reverend Messrs. Jacobs and Thompson. At the evening meeting the hall was crowded. Mr. Doutney spoke for about an hour taking a text from Nehemiah IV. At the close of his remarks a large number signed the pledge. Mrs. Doutney sung with her usual success. Mrs. Cornell and Mr. Arnold furnished some very good music. Tonight an entertainment with an entire new change of program will be given. The tickets are 15 cents. The proceeds will be for the mutual benefit of the Newport Total Abstinence Society and the Doutneys. The new association is named "The Newport Total Abstinence Society" and not the Newport Temperance Association as heretofore reported.

A MISSING MAN.—John Murphy, 35 years of age, employed at the boiler shops on Long Wharf, has been missing since the evening of February 6th. He boarded at Mr. O. Anderson's on Thames street, and was last seen in company with Private O'Toole of Fort Adams, who was supposed to be drowned at that time while crossing on the ice from this city to Fort Adams. Murphy was in company with O'Toole on that evening and intended to accompany him to the fort to see a friend, Sergeant Anderson. Mr. Anderson's family, thinking that Murphy had gone to Stonington, where they understood he had secured work on the afternoon of February 6th, said nothing about the matter. They received a letter from Stonington on Saturday, inquiring if Murphy was in this city, hence the inquiry as to his whereabouts. There is a strong probability that he was drowned with O'Toole. Murphy was five feet eight inches in height, light complexion, with sandy hair and mustache. He was bald and had a large bunch on the right side of his neck and a slight cut over the right eye. His eyes were grey. He wore a black diagonal suit with black overcoat and gaiter shoes.

IMPORTANT REAL ESTATE SALES.—Messrs. Frank B. Porter & Co. have sold for Mr. E. S. Whelen, of Philadelphia, his lot on Gibbs avenue, containing 40,000 square feet, to General James H. Van Alen of New York, for $12,000. Messrs. Porter & Co. have also sold the vacant lot of the Willett estate on Catharine street, containing 41,225 square feet, to Major John Whipple of New York, for $12,000.

TRINITY CHURCH.

The rector of Trinity preached an eloquent and effective sermon to his congregation, yesterday morning, which could not fail to impress all who heard it with the importance of the subject, and the earnest presentation of it to the people. Mr. Magill took for his text the words of the fourth verse of the fourteenth chapter of Ezekiel: "Thus saith the Lord God, every man of the house of Israel that setteth up his idols in his heart, and putteth the stumbling block of his iniquity before his face, and cometh to the prophet, I the Lord will answer him that cometh according to the multitude of his idols."

He began his exposition of the passage by showing how prone the Israelites were to fall into idolatry, and how repeatedly they were reproved by God for following after idols. So strongly was the nation infected with this iniquity, that the demoralization extended even to the priests, who had not the moral courage to resist the demands of the people, when they cried unto them "prophecy unto us smooth things, prophecy deceits." But the Lord had warned them that he would answer such false worshippers according to the multitude of their idols.

Turning then to the practical application of the text, he spoke of the tendency of this age to the same sin as that for which the Israelites were censured. He said there was an increasing distaste to Gospel teaching, a growing dissatisfaction for homely truths, and a shrinking from the verities of the Christian religion. People come to church with their idols in their hearts, the idols of itching ears, desirous and clamorous for popular preaching and subjects that ponder to their self-complacency, their scepticism, their love of ease.

As an illustration of his meaning Mr. Magill instanced an article, which has lately appeared in a well-known New York journal, commenting upon a sermon preached last Sunday in a New York pulpit. The preacher, it was said, took for his theme a distinguished novelist, George Eliot, lately deceased, and his sermon was an eulogistic disquisition of her life and character. The building was crowded, and in noting this fact, the writer of the said article remarked that, however eloquent, or learned, or excellent the preacher might have been, he would have failed to attract so large an audience had not his subject been one that proved highly interesting to his hearers. That people can no longer be enticed into churches by the old-fashioned topics of Bible history, and if preachers desire to draw large numbers together, they must select cultivated subjects, such as are likely to please cultivated people.

And this was the especial point upon which Mr. Magill enlarged; that this writer was no doubt uttering the sentiments of the people: that in these degenerate times churches are no longer filled with reverent congregations assembled to worship God and listen to His word, but they flock with their idols in their hearts and their stumbling blocks before their faces, to hear a political, scientific or literary address upon some favorite or absorbing topic of the day, or a discussion of a prominent character distinguished perhaps more for intellectual abilities than for high moral and religious qualities. To call a building used for such a purpose a church, seems almost to desecrate the title; let us name it more appropriately a lecture room.

Let us then, he concluded, take heed to the warning given to the Israelites in the text lest God should answer all such pretended worshippers in these days, according to the idols in their hearts.

GOODWIN'S FROLIQUES.—The New York Mail contained the following notice of Hobbies which appeared in that city with great success:

So recently has New York laughed itself into all kinds of pains at that Goodwin's artistic acting, which goes off with a snap, and the inimitable comicalness of "Hobbies," that it is sufficient to record that the people who missed a car last evening, or staid to let their coffee cool at dinner, or to read the last words in a chapter of a novel, found the words "standing-room only" staring them in the face on their arrival at the Standard Theatre. An audience which was almost too crowded to laugh comfortably applauded continually this, one of the funniest comedies ever offered to the public. It seems too ridiculous for rational consideration, yet "laughter holding both his sides" is a demure young person compared with last night's audience at the Standard. Mr. Goodwin's imitations of noted actors were as true as usual and received with unmused recognition, and his perpetual surprises in the way of jokes and "business" kept up the hilarity of his audience. The company all performed their parts with accustomed effect, and the only fault to be found was that there was not a third act and more fun of the same sort.

We learn from the Memorial des Pyrenees that Mr. James Gordon Bennett, now at Pau, has engaged for his personal gratification, for the space of one month, the celebrated orchestral leader from Vienna, Johann Strauss, who will arrive at Pau about the first of March with an orchestra of eighty performers. This will cost Mr. Bennett 140,000 francs. His generosity is also shown, inasmuch as M. Strauss will give a series of concerts which will be open to the public.

The New York Assembly has passed a bill requiring boarding house keepers who use oleomargarine to display a placard in the dining-room announcing the fact.

AN INCIDENT FOR MR. BERGH.

An artist well known in this city for his grotesque idealizations of birds, animals and insects captured in a distant swamp a frog to serve him for a model. He brought him by train to this city in a pail of water. He then made his studies of the frog. At last he finished and had no further use for him.

It was evening in the studio. The artist was done smoking his pipe. The poor frog hopping out of his pail sat upon the floor. The artist's eye fell dreamily upon him. Only a frog. What was to be done with him? Cast him adrift? Kill him. Throw his body in the street. Get rid of him anyway, the quicker, the better. Only a frog. As the artist smoked and mused he thought of the pool in the swamp where he had captured that frog. He thought of the frog's home, of his accustomed evening concert, of that frog's family and friends, of the possible fact that this frog was somebody's frog—that he had relatives, maybe a father, a mother, brothers and sisters, maybe a wife, maybe children, maybe that by somebody this frog was missed, that in frog family circles a gap existed, a loss had been sustained, that there might be frog bereavement, frog tears, frog grief, frog mourning.

Anyway, there sat the captured frog looking straight at him with steady, mournful eyes which seemed to say: "Yes; it is all true, I am desolate."

Then the artist arose straightway, put on his coat, put the frog in the pail, went forth, jumped in a horse car, rode to the ferry, crossed it, took a Jersey train, rode miles in the country, got out at a certain station, walked to a certain swamp and poured his frog into it, gave him his liberty, and returned home a happier man.

Now this was an act of the highest humanity. Verily, that man shall have his reward.—[Graphic.

THE ARCHBISHOP OF DUBLIN ON THE PARNELLITES.

The archbishop of Dublin, in his Lenten pastoral, says: Unsound and untheological opinions on the mutual obligations which bind society are being industriously propagated by men who are untrustworthy guides of a Catholic nation. Even though rents are extortionate, the principles now laid down that one of two contracting parties can, of his own private authority, rescind his engagement assail the very foundations of society. Let nobody accuse us of want of sympathy with the great question of justice which now appeals to Parliament for settlement. The cause is just and holy, and carries with it the blessings of religion. Amongst the terrible mistakes made formerly by the rulers of this unhappy land, there is none perhaps which will exceed in folly that which will be now committed if the vital question of tenure of land holding is not settled now and forever on just principles to all. So convinced are we that a full and honest settlement of this angry controversy is essential to the temporal happiness and moral and religious interests of our countrymen, that if the sacrifice of our blood could lead to the consummation of this grand act of justice, we would make that sacrifice. Whilst we bless the end now aimed at we must again proclaim that some of the means employed in the struggle cannot receive the sanction of religion. The modesty of her daughters was the ancient glory of Ireland; but all this is now to be abandoned, and our daughters are summoned, under the flimsy pretext of charity, to take their stand in the noisy arena of public life. The pretext of charity is merely assumed, for already we have holy associations of men and women who do works of mercy for the poor and afflicted, and even the harsh laws now coming in force have mercifully provided for the families of those falling under their power. Irishwomen are asked to forget the modesty of their sex by leaders who seem utterly reckless of consequences, and who by their recklessness have brought misery on many families.

A HELPLESS CITY.

The instant fair weather vanishes, the inability of New York to take care of itself appears. It is true that there are hundreds of men managing great affairs in the city with skill and ease and success who would manage the city in the same way. But they are not asked to do it, or they refuse to do it, and therefore we either have not the public spirit and intelligence equal to the work, or we do not know how to apply them to it. In either case, the word "helpless" is certainly descriptive of the great American city in a severely cold winter. There is no question that there is money enough raised to provide for the promptest and most thorough cleaning of the streets. But helpless New York knows neither how to clean its streets nor how to dispose of its refuse. When our respected reader of a century hence happens upon this page, he will know both how beautiful and cold this winter has been, and what a queer kind of paralysis has befallen the old city, to which he will look back as we, his remote and venerable ancestors, look back upon the quaint old town of Diedrich Knickerbocker.—[Editor's Easy Chair in Harper's Magazine for April.

THE PERIODICALS.

HARPER'S comes first of the April magazines. The number opens with an article, by W. H. Rideing, on "The Green Mountains in Sugar-Time," with illustrations by McCutcheon. Arthur Gilman, the architect, contributes an instructive, illustrated article on Salisbury Cathedral. "Indian Education at Hampton and Carlisle" is the subject of a paper by Helen W. Ludlow, one of the teachers, with fifteen illustrations. "Italian Life in New York" by Charlotte Adams, is illustrated by Mr. Rogers. Alexander F. Oakey's paper on "Art Embroidery" is full of valuable suggestions and has some excellent designs. Ernest Ingersoll contributes an article on Milwaukee, illustrated. S. R. Byers, United States Consul at Zurich, writes "My Farm in Switzerland" (illustrated). Two serial novels—"Anne," by Constance Fenimore Woolson, and "A Anodicean"—are continued, the former illustrated by Reinhart, and the latter by Du Maurier. Sherwood Bonner contributes "Two Storms." W. H. Beard, under the title of "An Artist's Reminiscences," tells of his boyhood. Another side of life insurance, contrasting with that given in the January Harper, is presented by the Rev. Stephen H. Tyng, Jr. Poultney Bigelow under the title of "Young Man, Go West," describes the Close colony in Iowa. "Darwinian Diversions," is contributed by F. H. Underwood. J. T. Trowbridge has a poem, "The Indian Camp." Other poems are contributed by Walt Whitman, Paul H. Hayne and William Gibson.

The City of Pittsburgh Board of Health Report for 1879, pp. 100, and special appendix on water pollution, with diagrams and charts, shows abundant reason for the persistence of diphtheria and other filth diseases in that city for three years. The accumulation of garbage, offal, etc., throughout the city; slaughter houses in the midst of populous districts; the use of water from wells in proximity with cesspools; living over soil composed of filth, ashes, house-garbage and other domestic filth; filthy cellars, commonly damp, and frequently retaining sipage water from cesspools and privy-vaults, with no proper provision for surface drainage, and an exceedingly defective sewerage system; and withal, a water supply from a portion of the river, which is the receptacle of the filthy surface and privy-vault drainage of 45,000 people within fifty-five miles on the descending stream to the reservoir pumps—these are conditions everywhere fraught with danger to all who encounter them. The report is rather heterogeneously put together, but it contains an immense amount of bad food for thought, enough evidence of criminal mortality against the civil authorities of Pittsburgh to hang them all for murder, if committed in some less loathsome way than water contamination with excrementitious filth.—[The Sanitarian for March.

EMBROIDERY.

The present revival of interest in embroidery seems likely to be more permanent than any that has preceded it, because it is now something more than a passing fashion in dress, as was the case in England in 1846, when London alone employed two thousand pair of hands in decorating every conceivable article of dress worn by ladies of fashion. Now it is her handiwork, the hours of patient stitching, the choice of materials and colors, and the realization of an artistic thought, that the lady of fashion is proud of, not, as formerly, the money that these cost. She has now a real appreciation of the beauty of her India shawl, with its seven hundred stitches to the square inch, and other features that make her treasures of old lace so valuable. The mere filling in of worsted work is superseded by an occupation that requires thought, knowledge, taste and skill; the promised slippers or sofa cushion are no longer so much to be dreaded, and even the afghan, chair back, and chantepied are assuming artistic importance—things that can not only be tolerated for the sake of association, but which we can conscientiously admire, and be thankful for. Of course many things are embroidered which should be perfectly plain, if, indeed, as in the case of a valance for a mantel, they should exist at all; but this lack of discrimination is incident to all beginnings, and we may feel certain that the enthusiasm which has carried the mantel valance to completion will lead to a degree of acquirement that will acknowledge its incongruity, and by that time the heat and soot of the fire will have rendered it unsightly enough to be consigned to the attic, among the useless accumulations of the past.—[A. F. Oakey, in Harper's Magazine for April.

When the British freight steamship Drumdoff was five days out on her passage from Philadelphia for Antwerp, she encountered a terrific gale which greatly damaged the ship and swept overboard a seaman. The vessel was swept by the sea, the fires were put out and the water in the hold was sixteen feet deep. Eight days later steamship Erin was sighted and the Drumdoff was abandoned, twelve of the crew being hauled a mile through the boisterous sea on a raft, by means of a line thrown by a rocket, and eleven being saved by a lifeboat.

Letter paper of a different color for every day of the week is now adopted in Paris. On Monday, fair correspondents pen their epistles on pale green, on Tuesday pink is the orthodox tint. Wednesday, as an unlucky day, is distinguished by sombre grey, blue is used on Thursday, white on Friday, straw color on Saturday, and a delicate mauve on Sunday.

James Gordon Bennett's latest eccentric performance is that of hiring Johann Strauss and his orchestra of eighty men to play for his special gratification at Pau for one month at a cost of nearly $30,000. The next thing we know brother Bennett will be hiring the Emperor of Germany to travel with him as his valet.—[Boston Post.

BURNS—Mary Jane, only child of Mrs. Mary Faulden Burns, born in London, Eng., May 28th, 1856 died in Newport, R. I., March 12th, 1881.
Funeral from the Emmanuel Church, Tuesday, March 15th, at 3 P. M.

Free, free, at last, from every pain,
In that blest home above;
Where fell disease can ne'er again
Approach the precious dove.
So patient under all her woes,
So full of hope and grace,
An angel here, she but arose
To fill an angel's place.
I'll never forget those lustrous eyes,
And that sweet pensive face,
Deep in my heart the impress lies
Which time cannot erase.
Farewell—a sad farewell to thee—
Thou chosen one of Heaven;
And may we live, as pure as she,
The lives our God hath given.

WANTED—A farm near Newport in exchange for improved city property on Bellevue avenue.

APPLY TO

J. Neilson Howard & Co.,

BELLEVUE AVENUE.

FOR SALE.

(1) We will sell very low FOR CASH ONLY, Mr. James Mahoney's house and lot in Newport avenue, just off Broadway. The lot is nearly 100 feet square and the house is very well built and complete in its arrangements. This is a rare chance for someone to secure a comfortable home at a price much below the actual value.

(2) We will also sell AT A BARGAIN, two lots of Mr. Mahoney's—one on Howard avenue, containing about 10,000 square feet, and one on corner of Broadway and Bellow avenue, containing over 40,000 square feet.

All this we will sell at such a low figure that any one having money to invest is recommended to apply to us for further information.

THE CLIFF COTTAGES.

THE CLIFF COTTAGE HOTEL, located near the beach, and with the ocean in full view, is being enlarged and refitted for the coming season. The eight cottages connected with the hotel are also to be thoroughly renovated and made attractive. The whole will be under an entirely new, but experienced management, and be kept in all respects as a first class establishment for summer residents. A new system of drainage, under the approval of the Sanitary Protection Society, will be introduced and made as perfect as possible. Cottages with meals from the hotel can now be engaged for the season. Prices as low as is consistent with the character of the service. For particulars inquire at the Daily News office of L. D. SUNDRIES.

Friday is an unlucky day. For fish.—[Boston Times.

An exchange says that new novels are flooding the land. This, of course, does not include the dry kind.—[New Orleans Picayune.

A candidate whose principal supporters are tavern keepers and shoemakers proudly alludes to them as members of the bar and bench.—[Philadelphia Chronicle-Herald.

"Yes," said the schoolgirl who had risen from the lowest to the highest position in her class; "I shall have a horseshoe for my symbol, as it denotes having come from the foot!"—[Yonkers Statesman.

A New Hampshire farmer recently agreed to sell his farm for $2,000, but when the day came he told the expectant purchaser that his wife was in hysterics about the trade, and "he guessed he'd have to back out." The purchaser complained, and finally asked how much more would induce him to sell. "Well," replied the thrifty son of the Granite State, "give me $250 more, and we'll let her cry."

An engaged young man is late in paying his regular visit in the dwelling of his musically-inclined betrothed. The young lady is anxious. The family sympathizes with her anxiety. Suddenly the bell rings and the calm blue sky of peace reappears in the young girl's eyes as she exclaims, rapturously, but ungrammatically: "That's him! How exquisite his technique is on the bell pull, and—oh, the breadth of his ring!"—[French newspaper.

She modestly averts her eyes;
She hides the blush that will not come,
She gives the most heart-rending sighs;
She giggles, and she bites her thumb,
She wears bright colors, not a few.
The charming girl of—fifty-two.

She still has hopes that some fine day
A man to claim her heart, will kneel;
And often thinks just what she'll say
Before she faints, and how she'll feel
When kissed—for that's entirely new
To this old girl of—fifty-two.

The extraordinarily inclement weather in England has served to fill Torquay, on the south coast of Devonshire, to overflowing. The Duchess of Sutherland and divers other grandees have winter villas there, and it was at Torquay that Baroness Burdett-Coutts, who has been in the habit of wintering there, first met her destiny in the shape of Mr. Bartlett. Forty years ago Torquay was not much more than a fishing village. It belongs chiefly to Lord Haldon, who, in fact, owns his peerage to the lucky purchase by his grandfather of the ground now covered by half the town for $50,000. The land was let out on a building lease, and Lord Haldon's son will probably get an income of from $300,000 to $400,000 a year from this property. Many of the residences are on the most sumptuous scale, and splendidly appointed equipages abound in the streets in the afternoon.

The curious nomenclature of the streets in East Boston is worthy of remark. Four for public men: Webster, Everett, Sumner and Hayne. Eleven for foreign cities: Liverpool, London, Havre, Paris, Bremen, Orleans, Hamburg, Frankfort, Lubec, Geneva and Venice. Four for revolutionary heroes: Putnam, Prescott, Brooks and Marion. Two for naval heroes: Porter and Decatur. Seven for revolutionary battles: Monmouth, Eutaw, Trenton, Lexington, Princeton, Saratoga and Bennington. Three for birds of prey: Condor, Falcon and Eagle. Eleven for poets: Pope, Cowper, Addison, Wordsworth, Byron, Moore, Milton, Homer, Cowper, Coleridge and Swift. And finally six for painters: Reynolds, Trumbull, Kneller, Hogarth, Van Dyke and West. These streets are all in groups as above.—[Boston Advertiser.

Wilkie told how in painting his Rent Day he thought long, and to no purpose, by what means he should signify that the sorrowful women with the children there, had left no husband at home, but was a widow under tragical self management; till one morning, pushing along the Strand, he met a small artisan family going evidently on an excursion, and in one of their hands or pockets somewhere was visible the house key. "That will do," thought Wilkie, and prettily introduced the house key as coral in the poor baby's mouth, just drawn from poor mammy's pocket, to keep her unconscious little orphan peaceable. He warmly agreed with me in thinking Wilkie a man of real genius, real vivacity and simplicity.

LIEBIG CO'S
COCA BEEF TONIC
Highest Medals. Indorsed and Prescribed by Medical Men of all Schools.
Professor Duncan Campbell, M.D., LL.D., President Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons, etc., etc., says: "It has more than realized my expectations."
Professor J. M. Carmichael, M.D., Professor of Surgery New York Medical College, says: "My patients derive marked and decided benefit from it."
Professor H. Goullon, M.D., Physician to the Grand Duke of Saxony; Knight of the Holy Cross, etc., says: "It gives more tone than anything I have ever prescribed."
Sir Robert Christison, M.D., LL.D., F.R.S., Physician to her Majesty the Queen; President Royal British Association, etc., etc., says: "The properties of the Coca are the most remarkable of any known to the medical world. From repeated personal trials I am convinced that its use is highly beneficial and tonic."
Valuable in malaria; ague; malarial debility; dumb ague; low fever; marasmus; paralytic; spinal and nervous affections; female weaknesses; bilious and liver affections; weak throats; palpitation and other affections of the heart; epilepsy or falling sickness; weakness of the voice of actors, singers, public speakers and clergymen; colic; flatulency; seasickness; falling out of the hair; asthma; shortness of breath; wasting diseases; etc., etc. It is gratefully refreshing and restorative after prolonged mental and physical strain. It is pleasant and agreeable, and is readily retained by the most delicate stomach. Dr. Mellean (British Medical Journal) found it of great service in consumption. Baron von Humboldt says he has never known a case of consumption or asthma among those accustomed to its use, and that they live to a great age, retaining their mental and physical faculties to the last (Cosmos).

RUPTURE
Wesley Phillips's Case.
DR. J. A. SHERMAN—Dear Sir: I am happy to inform you that I am entirely cured of my large scrotal rupture. It is one year ago today that I received your treatment. I have tested the cure by going without the appliance. My business is that of a locomotive engineer. My rupture, as you will recollect, your mind, was similar to Mr. Jordan's, in your pamphlet of illustrations.
I was ruptured in the year 1863, while in the army. I have tried spring and elastic trusses with great discomfort and injury, my rupture always growing worse. Finding I must get some relief or give up my business, I determined to try you as a last resort, and I must say that I found your treatment a complete success. My improvement and cure have, considering my terrible condition, surprised my friends as well as myself. During your treatment I have worked hard in my business, enjoying both safety and comfort, and have not lost a day's work. My general health has also improved. I will take pleasure in recommending the afflicted to you whenever I have an opportunity.
You may publish this letter for the benefit of humanity. My address is 311 East 44th street. With best wishes I remain yours, respectfully,
WESLEY PHILLIPS.
New York City, Oct. 25, 1880.
Its Relief and Cure as Certain as Day follows Day.
Since the introduction of Dr. Sherman's treatment, thousands are crowding upon him for treatment, gladly throwing away their galling, irksome, disgusting, and life-punishing trusses. His treatment for this affliction makes the patient comfortable and safe in the performance of every kind of exercise or labor. It is a grand thing, and those who are ruptured and do not provide themselves with it must endure the dangers of that precarious affliction and the use of trusses all the nigh life. Thousands of those cured give the most flattering testimonials of gratitude to DR. SHERMAN. He is the author and inventor of his popular system: he imparts his secret to no one; it is applicable to all classes and cases, and, under his reduced rate, within the reach of almost everyone.
Patients can receive treatment and leave for home same day. DR. SHERMAN'S Book on Rupture gives convincing proofs from professional gentlemen and others of his successful treatment. It is illustrated with photograph pictures of his cases before cure, and is sent to those who send 10 cents. Principal office 251 Broadway, N. Y. Branch office 21 Milk street, Boston. Days in New York—Monday, Tuesday, Saturday. In Boston—Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. f25-1w

Back Ache
POSITIVELY CURED BY
Benson's Capcine Porous Plasters.
Reasons Why they are Preferred to All Other Porous Plasters or External Remedies:
First.
Because they possess all the merit of the strengthening porous plaster, and contain in addition thereto the newly discovered powerful and active vegetable combination which acts with increased rubefacient, stimulating, sedative and counter irritant effects.
Second.
Because they are a genuine pharmaceutical preparation, and so recognized by the profession.
Third.
Because they are the only plasters that relieve pain at once.
Fourth.
Because they will positively cure diseases which other remedies will not even relieve.
Fifth.
Because over 5000 physicians and druggists have voluntarily testified that they are superior to all other plasters or medicines for external use.
Sixth.
Because the manufacturers have received the only medals ever given for porous plasters.

PATENTS
R. H. EDDY,
No. 75 State St., opp. Kilby St., Boston.
Secures patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington. No agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions. R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of Patents.
Testimonials.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse.
CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents."
"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the patent office.
EDMUND BURKE, late Commissioner of Patents."
BOSTON, October 19, 1870.
R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you. Yours truly,
GEORGE DRAPER.

THE GREAT
KIDNEY REGULATOR
AND DIURETIC.
Kidnegen is highly recommended and unsurpassed for Weak or Foul Kidneys, Dropsy, Bright's Disease, Loss of Energy, Nervous Debility, or any obstructions arising from Kidney or Bladder Diseases. Also for Yellow Fever, Blood and Kidney Poisoning, in infected malarial sections.
By the distillation of a Forest Leaf with Juniper Berries and Barley Malt we have discovered Kidnegen, which acts specifically on the Kidneys and Urinary Organs, removing deposits in the Bladder and straining, smarting, heat or irritation in the water passages, giving them strength, vigor and causing a healthy color and easy flow of urine. It can be taken at all times, in all climates without injury to the system. Unlike any other preparation for Kidney difficulties it has a very pleasant and agreeable taste and flavor. It contains positive diuretic properties and will not nauseate. Ladies especially will like it, and gentlemen will find Kidnegen the best Kidney Tonic ever used!
Notice.—Each bottle bears the signature of Lawrence & Martin, also a proprietary government stamp, which permits Kidnegen to be sold (without license) by Druggists, Grocers and other persons everywhere. Put up in quart size bottles for general and family use. If not found at your druggists or grocers, we will send a bottle prepaid to the nearest express office to you.
LAWRENCE & MARTIN, Proprietors,
Chicago, Ill., and 6 Barclay St., New York.
Sold by Druggists, Grocers and Dealers everywhere.
Sold in Newport by R. F. DOWNING, JR., Chemist and Druggist. W. B. BLANDING, Wholesale Agent, Providence, will supply the trade at the manufacturers' prices. s7-m&j-1y

SURE CURE
For Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Asthma, Consumption, and all diseases of the Throat and Lungs.
Put up in Quart-Size Bottles for Family Use.
Scientifically prepared of Balsam Tolu, Crystallized Rock Candy, Old Rye, and other tonics. The formula is known to our best physicians, is highly recommended by them, and the analysis of our most prominent chemist, Prof. O. A. MARINER, in Chicago, is on the label of every bottle. It is well known to the medical profession that TOLU ROCK and RYE will afford the greatest relief for Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Bronchitis, Sore Throat, Weak Lungs, also Consumption, in the incipient and advanced stages.
Used as a BEVERAGE and APPETIZER, it makes a delightful tonic for family use. Is pleasant to take; if weak or debilitated it gives tone, activity and strength to the whole human frame.
CAUTION. DON'T BE DECEIVED by unprincipled dealers who try to palm off upon you Rock and Rye in place of our TOLU ROCK AND RYE, which is the only medicated article made, THE genuine having a GOVERNMENT STAMP on each bottle.
